Molli Bryn with her pretty new cap

Thank You "Aunt Polly"

My Nana Betty sent me this wonderful cap. She said it was knitted by one of her special clients, Polly Kluttz.

I'm still getting used to wearing caps, and this is certainly my favorite. My new cap sure keeps my head warm when Mom or Dad takes me out in the cold Iowa winter.

Thank You "Aunt Polly"

Busy February Ahead

Feeling Better

Thank you to all the clients who extended well wishes and prayers for me related to my recent health challenges. I'm feeling better every day.

I've received a clean bill of health from all the doctors I've seen lately. My pulmonologist appointment in early February will hopefully be the last of a seemingly endless schedule of doctor appointments.

Which makes me wonder how I can squeeze in another doctor appointment, considering my February schedule?

Trade Show Overload

Four days in Las Vegas for the trade show of all trade shows...
International Builders Show (construction & remodeling industry) +
Kitchen and Bath Industry Show +
Window Treatments Show = Severe Overload

Several of our team members will be joining my husband and me in Las Vegas the first week of February. I'm taking my husband so he can give me a foot massage each day after walking such a humongous exhibit area. Please don't tell him...he thinks I want his help at the shows.

Our team will seek out the latest and greatest of what is new in each industry segment to make sure we are providing you the best of the best.

New Homes Projects

Shortly after returning from Las Vegas, I'll be off to St. Louis to work with a client on their ultimate retirement home. We've got to review the structure and consider many aspects before the wall are enclosed.

Then later in the month a client from Dallas will be here to work on their new Dallas home that is slated to start construction in a few months.

Don't worry, my wonderful staff can help you with your needs if I am not available.

Until Next Month,

Betty Jones

What Our Clients Are Saying

"The ideas you brought out are better than we ever thought of and reflect new products which are a better value than we originally budgeted for. Janice laughed with us, not at us with our ideas. We would rate our experience a 10++."

DISCO TOWNHOME MAKEOVER

Debbie & Jeff Burgess's first thoughts when they walked into their future Oro Valley get-away home were probably "where's the disco music"?

With mirrored ceilings & doors, glass shelves, dated oak cabinets, cultured marble counters and carpet in the master bath, they knew there needed to be major updating to their new townhome.

Interior Expressions was the perfect place to get help with their makeover.

IE Senior Interior Designer Janice Williams helped the Burgess's transform their 1980's townhome into a 21st Century cozy get-away.

Major Changes

The biggest changes were to the kitchen and master bathroom.

Smaller, but much needed changes were made to the family room, dining room, powder room and guest bathroom.

Kitchen Makeover

New alder cabinets in a honey bronze finish, with a contrasting Cambria quartz countertop, give the kitchen an open and airy feel.

New stainless steel appliances, including a glass electric cooktop, are complimented nicely by a new contemporary exhaust hood.

Taking the backsplash in the cooktop area all the way to the ceiling helps tie everything together and make the ceilings appear higher.

Kitchen After

Total Kitchen Transformation

An under mount 60/40 granite composite sink (new product) was selected. It is impervious to stains & scratches and is color fast. Our clients LOVE this.

Master Bath Before

Master Bath Transformation

The biggest change Janice made to the master bath was to reconfigure the toilet & shower area. The large garden-tub and the small shower was part of the toilet room.

With a simple wall move, Janice made the toilet area private, eliminated the tub and greatly expanded the shower size.

New cabinets, counters, flooring, lighting and plumbing fixtures, combine with a spacious tiled shower to make a luxurious master bath.

Love the finished project

When we decided to update our future retirement home we searched for a Design and Remodel company that could help us achieve the finishes we were looking for.

Janice and Interior Expressions helped guide us through the process and managed the entire job.

We love the finished project and are enjoying our new home.
